Staff at the laboratory department at the Upper West Regional Hospital has declared an indefinite strike over the unavailability of logistics and other working materials at the facility. Manager of the laboratory Kanpki Thea, in a letter said " the laboratory staff have decided to lay down their tools and hand over the keys of the lab to management with effect from 13th November 2018". The letter said "coming to work and doing nothing because of reagents unavailability is more or less tantamount to sitting at home without coming to work." They cited the non availability of an electrolyte analyzer, water bath and distilling plants as well as reagents and sitting chairs as unbefitting of regional laboratory and pledged not to return to work until such are provided. Management at the hospital are holding a meeting over the matter and will only respond after their meeting.
